

YALE AND HARVARD CLASH BEFORE 80,000

To-Night's Weather—FAIR, COLD.

To-Morrow's Weather—FAIR, COLD.

THE EVENING
WORLD
FINAL EXTRA

The Evening
World

The Evening
World

THE EVENING
WORLD
FINAL EXTRA

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

VOL. LXIII. NO. 22,215—DAILY.

Copyright (New York World) by Press Publishing Company, 1922.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1922.

Entered as Second-Class Matter Post Office, New York, N. Y.

PRICE THREE CENTS

PANIC AMONG 2,000 ORPHANS AS LINERS CRASH

$1,390,586.021 HANDED OUT IN STOCK DIVIDENDS BY 49 CONCERNS WITHIN 10 WEEKS

Tremendous Financial Move to Evade Paying Excess Profit Tax.

FEAR BAR BY NEW LAW.

Started by Standard Oil, Other Huge Corporations Rush to Follow Lead.

By R. R. Batson.

The stock dividend epidemic which broke out among the various Standard Oil units about ten weeks ago continues unchecked, and financial doctors agree that it is yet far from having reached its crest.

It has already become a tremendous financial phenomenon and Wall Street is no longer at a loss to understand what it is all about.

When the first Standard Oil unit, the California Company, announced that it would distribute a dividend of stock of 100 per cent., Wall Street was taken by surprise, and surprise quickly gave way to amazement when the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Standard Company of New York declared stock dividends of 400 per cent. and 200 per cent., respectively.

The epidemic has so spread that ten Standard Oil units alone have thus far distributed an aggregate of $214,162,411 in stock dividends.

But the epidemic had not long progressed when amazement gave way to understanding and with understanding came the decision of many large business concerns to follow the lead of the Standard Companies and pay dividends in stock.

Thus far a total of 49 important companies have ordered the distribution of stock dividends ranging from 10 to 700 per cent. The par value of the dividends thus distributed to shareholders has now reached the enormous total of $1,390,586,021.

Unless precautions made in semi-official sources prove to be very wide of the mark, within the next few weeks, or before the end of the year, the total of stock dividends will be

(Continued on Second Page.)

CHILD AGAIN DEMANDS OPEN DOOR IN TURKEY AT PEACE CONFERENCE

and Public Insist on Commercial Equality.

LAUSANNE, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Richard Washburn Child, chief American spokesman at the Near Eastern conference, announced the other delegates at this morning's session by reiterating the insistence of the United States upon the open door policy in Turkey.

He read the aide-memoire delivered on Oct. 30 to Great Britain, France and Italy, and said that the American Government and public supported this policy.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The Lausanne correspondent of the Temps, says the pronouncement is clearly aimed not only at the Tri-Partite agreement and the San Remo accord, but also at the Angora agreement between France and Turkey.

It does not appear, however, adds the correspondent, that America is willing to assume her part in the responsibility which radical modification of the Angora agreement might entail.

PRINCETON STUDENT HELD FOR MAN'S DEATH

His Auto Killed Truck Driver, Is Charged.

TRENTON, Nov. 25.—Edward D. Peden, twenty-one, a student at Princeton University, was held today on a charge of manslaughter for the death of Paul Woolshager, a truck driver of Philadelphia, who was killed, it is charged, when an automobile driven by Peden crashed into Woolshager's truck Tuesday near Princeton.

Woolshager had stopped his truck to make repairs when Peden's car struck it, the authorities say. Frank Keller, who was with Woolshager, sustained a fractured leg and hip. Peden's home is in Houston, Tex.

MILLIONAIRE AUTO DEALER SHOT DEAD; CHICAGO MYSTERY

Body of "Handsome Joe" Lanus Found in Garage—Women Are Questioned.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Numerous women were questioned today by police investigating the murder of "Handsome Joe" Lanus, millionaire automobile dealer and bachelor.

Lanus was found shot twice in his back with his own revolver in a garage last night. A full length woman's chamois colored glove lay nearby. He was still alive when found, but died without regaining consciousness. Just as Sgt. Lee Conley of the police force arrived at the scene, the telephone rang. Conley answered.

"Is this Joe?" a woman's voice asked.

"Yes, this is Joe," Conley answered.

"No it isn't," the caller replied and hung up the receiver. All efforts to trace the call, which police believe would aid greatly in solving the murder, had failed. The chief clues on which authorities are working were furnished by Miss Alice McCord, a bookkeeper for Lanus. She said he had many women friends and gave the names of some of them. Lanus was a frequent cabaret visitor and a well known figure in the night life of Chicago.

Another theory that was advanced by police was that Lanus might have been mistaken for his brother, also in the automobile business. They bear a startling resemblance.

Joseph Denny, thirty, a porter employed in Lanus's garage, was taken into custody by officers who quizzed him concerning a quarrel he overheard in the garage the night before the murder. A strange man was closeted with Lanus, the porter said. This man argued loudly with the garage owner over a $100 note. Denny was held for further questioning.

"Handsome Joe" didn't like women individually," said Miss McCord said. "He wasn't satisfied unless he had a whole boy of them around him. This frequently aroused jealousy among some of his women friends. He was a business man, accounting for every nickel. When he sold cars on time, payments had to be made on the minute due or he would foreclose. This made him many enemies. He was worth nearly a million dollars. Frequently he would pay $50,000 for a consignment of cars—he always paid cash."

Lanus was one of the largest dealers in the city.

(Continued on Second Page.)

FREEMPORT FIREMEN ARRESTED FOR ARSON PLACED ON PROBATION

Four Ardent Volunteers Confess They Set Fires to Put Them Out.

Dwight Boland, Henry Wiebold, Frederick H. Plum Jr. and Rudolph L. Himmel, members of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Volunteer Fire Company at Freemport, today appeared before County Judge Smith on a charge of third degree arson. They were placed on probation.

The quartet confessed to setting fire on Nov. 13 to a row of bath houses at Kogel's Beach, 325 damages being done. Overenthusiasm to go to fire was held responsible. The men have been ardent members of the fire company, stayed at headquarters late, polished machinery and had 100 per cent. records.

TIERNAN MARRIES TWO DAYS AFTER HE GOT DIVORCE

Professor, Principal in Recent Scandal, Leads Iowa Widow to Altar.

FIRST WIFE STUNNED.

Says Husband Planned to Re-Wed Her—Will Reopen Old Case, She Adds.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Nov. 25.—John P. Tiernan, former professor at Notre Dame University, involved in a recent scandal suit there, was married here today to Blanche J. Brimer of Hannett, Ia. She was married previously. She gave her age as twenty-four and said she had been a widow two years. Justice of the Peace Howard Kemp performed the ceremony.

Tiernan obtained a divorce from his wife on Thursday, went to Waukegan, Ill., on Friday and attempted to obtain a license there, but was refused because of the Illinois law which requires persons who have obtained a divorce to wait a year before re-marrying.

Before the divorce suit was filed, a case was brought in South Bend Courts to determine the paternity of Tiernan's third child. Mrs. Tiernan confessed that Harry Poulin, a clothing dealer, was the father of the baby.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, who had lost her suit to prove Poulin was the father of her third child and who filed suit for divorce but allowed her husband to obtain the divorce decree on a cross complaint last Thursday declared she had been "tricked" and that she and her former husband had planned to re-marry quietly. She said she was stunned by news of her former husband's marriage and would take steps to reopen the divorce case.

CLEMENCEAU ATTENDS YALE-HARVARD BATTLE

Tiger Moved by Lusty Cheers of Harvard Rooters.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—With the Harvard yell dining in his ears Georges Clemenceau departed for New Haven today to see the Yale-Harvard game. The Tiger's private car was attached to a football special, in the aisles of which football fans paraded, yelled and sang.

Clemenceau's eyes glistened as he listened to the lusty college yells. Those who know the Tiger say it wouldn't be surprising to hear the old man mingle his voice with those of the rooters.

CHINESE PREMIER RESIGNS HIS OFFICE

Follows Arrest of Finance Minister for Accepting Bribe.

PEKING, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Premier Wang Chung Hui resigned today.

The resignation of the entire cabinet have been in the hands of President Li Yuan Hung since the arrest a week ago of Lo Wen-Kan, Finance Minister, on the charge of accepting a personal commission in connection with the negotiation of a re-war loan with Austrian and German capitalists.

LIPTON, ILL., PUTS OFF SAILING AGAIN

Sir Thomas Lipton, who was to have sailed for home today on the Majestic, cancelled his reservation this morning and remained in his suite at the Baltimore, where he has been suffering for some time from a cold. This is the second time within a fortnight that he has cancelled a sailing reservation for the same reason.

It was said at the Baltimore, however, that his condition is not serious and that he probably will sail within a week.

Relief Ship With 2,000 Orphans Collides With Liner New York; Panic Reigns Among Children

Belgravian From Asia Minor and Transatlantic Steamer Crash at Junction of Bosphorus and Sea of Marmora; Lifeboats Crushed by Impact.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Two thousand Christian orphans and two American Relief workers were imperilled this morning when the steamship Belgravian, chartered by the Near East Relief, collided with the Transatlantic liner New York at the western entrance of the Bosphorus this morning.

Allied ships, despatched hurriedly to the scene, reported that many of the children had been painfully injured, but that no lives were lost. Doctors and nurses were sent from the Near East headquarters here to attend the injured. The New York carried no passengers.

Reports received here declare panic reigned among the children following the impact, which tore away the bridge and foremost of the Belgravian, smashed the lifeboats and loosened seven of the vessel's plates. The steamer's wireless apparatus was also put out of commission.

The American Relief workers aboard the Belgravian are Paul Betts, Towanda, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Murrell of Hartford, Conn.

ARREST TWO COPS AFTER BATTLE IN BROOKLYN CAFE

Crowd Watches Fight Until Third Policeman Takes Pair to Station.

Two patrolmen were arrested early today on charges of disorderly conduct growing out of a fight in a chop suey restaurant at No. 5205 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. They are Walter Harrington, No. 87 Bond Street, attached to the Astoria Precinct, and Charles Casazza, No. 5505 Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn, attached to the Hamilton Avenue Station. William De Mint, No. 99 Pioneer Street, Brooklyn, on the list for appointment to the police force, also was arrested on the same charge but later freed in court.

Patrolman Charles Corbett of the Fourth Avenue Station heard shouting at the restaurant and saw a crowd in front. The fight had started in the restaurant, one flight up, and had continued down the stairs to the street. Corbett said that Casazza shouted:

"These men are my prisoners," pointing to Harrington and De Mint. Then he drew a blackjack and beat Harrington over the head. Corbett said, whereupon Corbett arrested all three.

When arraigned in the Fifth Avenue Court later, Harrington's head was swathed in bandages. He made a formal charge of felonious assault against Casazza, who was held in $500 bail on that charge for hearing next Friday.

Casazza declared it was Corbett who had beaten Harrington. Both Harrington and Casazza were paroled on the disorderly conduct charge for hearing Friday, and were suspended by Deputy Commissioner Leach.

(Continued on Second Page.)

Hooch in His Cellar, Also a Dog He "Siced" on Cop Making Raid

Detective, Without Warrant, Says He Was Searching For a "Suspicious Person."

Domenick Puleo, thirty-five years old, proprietor of an olive oil store at No. 451 West 46th Street, was today held in $500 bail for examination on Monday on a charge of violating the Mullan-Gage law and $500 bail for violating the Sullivan law, by Magistrate Renard in West Side Court.

Entering Puleo's store in pursuit of a "man who looked suspicious," Detective Robert McAllister of Headquarters Division said he had discovered there a loaded revolver, twenty-two barrels of whiskey, four barrels of beer, a ten-gallon jar of whiskey and a wine press.

The detective alleged he found the pistol on a shelf while trying to locate the "suspicious" individual. Puleo, he said, claimed ownership of the gun. Going downstairs into the basement,

REPRISALS FEARED FOR EXECUTION OF ERSKINE CHILDERS

Country Stunned by Event, Having Expected He Would Be Reprised.

QUIET NIGHT IN DUBLIN

Provisions of Free State Constitution Made Public To-Day.

DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—Grave fears are felt here of outbreaks of violence in reprisal for the shooting by the Free State Government of Erskine Childers.

Threats are being indulged in and elaborate preparations have been made by the Free State for any contingency which may arise.

The country is still stunned by the bare fact of Childers's execution, as it had been universally believed he would be reprised.

Dublin had a quiet night, and there was less uneasiness manifested today over the execution. Still it is expected to make more bitter the feeling between Free State and Republicans, Unionists, Nationalists and other former colleagues thus far have expressed no regrets. Childers's guerrilla warfare had robbed him of sympathy except from Republicans.

Capture of Eamon De Valera will now be the objective of all Free State forces.

The loss of Childers leaves the anti-treaty party crippled because he was regarded as their intellectual giant. De Valera can now only turn to Austin Stack, R. J. Kuttig and James Robinson, who are stubborn, but do not possess the same uncanny keenness as Childers, who was largely responsible for De Valera's later policies of postponing the election and having the constitution presented at the election, thus making the treaty only an indirect issue. As the editor of the Republic of Ireland Childers kept in the forefront the argument that the treaty was signed under duress.

Many leaders of the Free State believed all along that without Childers, whom Michael Collins called "Ireland's evil genius," De Valera would have lined up with them and there would not have been any conflict after the signing of the treaty. There are hardly a dozen men outside of prison now who can seriously interfere with peace.

IRISH OFFICIAL TONGUE FOR NEW FREE STATE

New Constitution Given Last Full Dominion Status.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—The text of the Irish Free State Constitution Bill, presented by Premier Bonar Law to the British Parliament yesterday and made public today, sets forth that the Irish Parliament is constituted in accordance with the Irish Free State Agreement Act and is sitting as a constituent assembly, having passed the Irish Constituent Act embodying the Irish Constitution.

This constitution, the bill states, it to be construed with reference to the Irish treaty, which is also embodied in the bill as a schedule, and it is provided that if any provision of the constitution is repugnant to the treaty it is in respect to that repugnancy abrogated and inoperative in that event the Irish Parliament is to pass further legislation necessary to fulfill the treaty.

The Irish Constitution is to come into being on its being proclaimed by the King, but he may at any time later appoint a Governor General. The establishment of the Irish Free State, it is stipulated, shall not affect any liability to pay taxes or duties payable in respect to the current or preceding financial years.

The power of the Imperial Parliament to legislate for the Free State in any case where the Parliament would make laws affecting the other self-governing dominions is preserved. The second bill presented by the Prime Minister, making provisions consequent upon the establishment of the Irish Free State, sets up a trust for providing cottages for ex-service men in Ireland.

The Irish High Court of Appeal ceases to exist under this bill and the

(Continued on Second Page.)

BULLDOG FAVORITE TO BEAT CRIMSON IN TO-DAY'S BATTLE; CLEMENCEAU AT THE GAME

80,000, Including Princeton Team and Clemenceau, Fill Big Eli Bowl as Ancient Rivals Clash—Crimson Makes Several Changes in Line-Up.

YALE AND HARVARD LINE-UP

YALE				HARVARD
Wt.	Ht.	Age.	Player.	Position.	Player.	Age.	Ht. Wt.
173	5.11	21	Mulman	End-R.	Holder	21	6.00 185
190	6.02	19	Miller	Tackle-R.	Dunkley	19	6.01 187
218	6.00	21	Cruikshank	Guard-R.	Kunhardt	22	6.00 185
188	5.10	19	Loveley	Center	Clark	23	6.00 175
245	6.01	22	Cross	R-Guard-L.	C. Hubbard	20	6.02 195
195	6.00	20	Diller	R-Tackle-L.	Eastman	21	6.00 200
170	6.00	21	Deaver	R-End-L.	Jenkins	22	5.09 168
175	5.11	20	O'Hearn	Quarterback	Buell	22	5.09 155
160	5.10	22	Neldinger	L-Halfback-R.	Gehrke	24	6.00 180
166	5.10	20	Jordan	L-Halfback-L.	Owen	20	5.11 169
175	5.10	21	Mallory	Fullback	Chapin (Harvard)	23	5.10 169

Average weight of Yale line, 195 pounds; average weight of Harvard line, 185 pounds. Average weight of Yale backfield, 167 pounds; average weight of Harvard backfield, 175 pounds.

Time of game, 2 o'clock; Yale Bowl, New Haven, Conn.

Officials—Referee, E. J. O'Brien; Tuffe, Umpire, E. F. Guigley; Stunt Institute; Field Judge, V. A. Schwartz; Brown; Linesman, F. W. Murphy; Brown.

By William Abbott

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Nov. 25.—Tigers were very much in evidence here this afternoon when Yale and Harvard, age-old rivals on the gridiron, lined up for their annual tussle. In one section of the field, the complete football squad of Princeton, which had defeated both of today's contestants, looked on with a certain justified superiority, and in another section an individual Tiger—the former War Premier of France, Georges Clemenceau, vied with the game itself in keeping up the interest and enthusiasm of the day.

The Blue ruled favorite in the betting with tons of college money—the usual five and tens—being placed at 10 to 8. Sentiment here is general the Bulldog won't come out the under dog as had been the customary ending of most struggles with Harvard in the last fifteen years.

Crimson hopes shot upward with the announcement that Capt. Blunt would surely start the game. The little quarterback is the mainspring of the Cambridge machine and his presence means a lot to the morale of the Harvard warriors.

Some doubt still exists whether Vinnie Chapin or Jack Hammond will begin operations at fullback. Chapin has played the position regularly all season but Hammond, star of the 1921 freshman eleven, is a triple-threat because of his fine running, kicking and passing. Coach Flaherty will not decide whether to start Chapin or Hammond until the last minute although it is a certainty both will get in the game.

Yale will have the use of its strongest combination. Diller, veteran tackle, has recovered from bruises received in the Princeton battle last Saturday and will be in the lineup. Mulman will take over the place at center, a change that will hardly weaken the team as Tad Jones has three sets of wingmen of almost equal ability.

Both teams had light workouts yesterday afternoon. The Crimson squad spent nearly two hours testing the turf and the tricky air currents in the Bowl. Early in the day the Blue eleven ran through a snappy signal drill.

While the Yale players spent the night in town the Cambridge squad made their headquarters at Derby, the usual stopping place of invading teams.

Both camps were heavily guarded to keep out football fans who have been drifting into town throughout the week. Former heroes were especially early on the scene to catch a glimpse of the action.

(Continued on Eighth Page.)

ARREST 6 SPECULATORS AT YALE-HARVARD GAME

Three of Prisoners Are Eli Students—They Deny Charge.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 25.—Two additional arrests on the charge of speculation in tickets for today's Harvard-Yale game were made during last night. The accused being Yale freshmen, Thomas, Louis Shanck and Philip D. Stein denied the charge.

Last evening William Lewis, a Yale student, of Scranton, Pa., and Allan Krivitsky of this city were arrested charged with selling tickets. Two alleged speculators were arrested Thursday.

(Continued on Eighth Page.)